

CAITLIN DRANSFIELD CONTINUES TO PUSH FOR CHANGE

Social Change

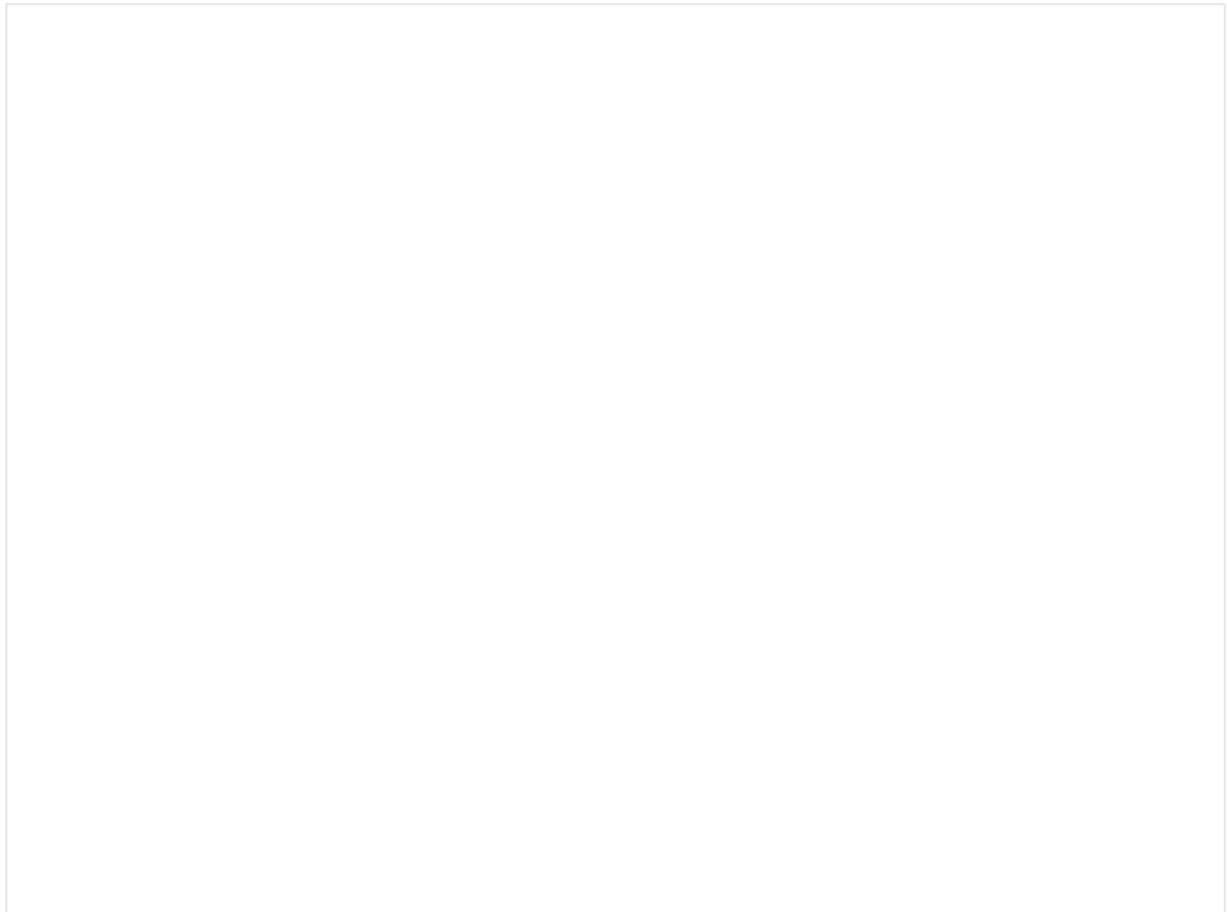

Last updated: October 6, 2021

Tom Leonard

Co-authored by Badminton World Federation

Caitlin Dransfield believes she is in a unique position to advance the cause of the disabled. She represented Australia in women's singles SL 4 discipline at the Tokyo 2020 Paralympics. However, her association with disability goes beyond just being a Para badminton player – at university, she is doing a bachelor's course on disability, while also using her spare time as a disability support worker.

Related Links

<https://www.facebook.com/BOC.badminton/posts/6094379...>

<https://badmintonoceania.org/caitlin-dransfield-continues-to-push-for-change/>